Miller Becomes Business Dean

Vergil V. Miller will assume his duties as the dean of the college's new school of business administration on August 1.

The appointment was announced this spring by Stephen

Vergil Miller

L. Walker, academic vice-president.

Miller has been associate professor of business administration at Oregon State University for the past two years. He was editor of the North-West Business Management, a journal published by the Oregon State University press.

A native of Oregon, Miller received his education in the Pacific Northwest. He received a bachelors degree from Oregon State University and a master of business administration degree from the University of Washington. Miller was awarded his doctorate of business administration degree with a major in finance and business economics.

Miller served as a partner in a construction and logging firm prior to entering graduate school. For the past six years, he has been engaged in full-time college and university teaching and administration.

He is the author of several articles and two monographs in the field of business administration. In addition to teaching, he has served as senior

Assembly Approves Name Change Bill

Despite the opposition of the Assembly's speaker and the chairman of its education committee, the bill which would change the name of the state college system to "state university" system, and which would allow the Board of Trustees to designate certain of the state colleges "state universities," passed the Assembly and has been sent to the Senate.

The bill, introduced at the request of the state college Trustees, was passed after a dramatic roll call. The original roll call produced only 39 favorable votes, with 41 being needed for approval; however, a roll call of the absent Assembly members yielded the 2 additional necessary votes. (Edwin Z'berg of Sacramento later was granted unanimous consent to be recorded as voting yes, bringing the total to 42.)

Presenting the bill was Assemblyman John Vasconcellos of San Jose, author of the measure. Speaking against the measure were Assemblymen Don Mulford of Berkeley; Jesse Unruh of Inglewood, speaker of the Assembly; Leo Ryan of San Mateo county; and Leroy Greene of Sacramento, chairman of the education committee. The principal arguments against the legislation were that the name would confuse the public and that it would serve as an entering wedge for changing the role assigned to the state colleges by the Donahoe Act Master Plan for Higher Education.

Supporters of the bill maintained that it would improve the

Spanish Dance Troupe Performs

"Theatre Flamenco," a program of Spanish dance, songs, poetry, and guitar music, will be presented June 28 at 8:15 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

The program will include flamenco dance and song, classical Spanish dance, flamenco guitar, and the reading, in English, of the poetry of Garcia Lorca.

Adela Clara and Jauna Francesca head this group of young performers, which also includes Juan-Carlos and Vicentes Paredes, dancers; Norman Delgado and Jaime Varon, guitarists; Howard Lucas, actor; and Henrietta Vinson, pianist.

"Theatre Flamenco" got its start in New York's Greenwich Village and has been located in San Francisco for the past three years. It is the city's only Spanish Dance company and in addition to theatre engagements and television is very active in community concert presentations.

The troupe has been commended by critics wherever they have appeared and have also been praised for their colorful and authentic costumes.

Their appearance is being sponsored by SSC's Cultural Programs Committee. The program is open to the public without charge.

Writer-Producer Speaks On Radicals

Author Saul Landau will speak on "Where the Radical Action 'Is At'" this morning at 10 at a convocation in the Men's Gymnasium.

Landau is a writer and producer for San Francisco educational television station KQED. A co-author, with Paul Jacobs, of THE NEW RADICALS, a report and analysis of the "new left," Landau has written and produced LOSING JUST THE SAME, a movie, nominated for awards, about Negro life in the Oakland ghetto.

Landau also wrote CIVIL RIGHTS IN A CRACKER BARREL: A MINSTREL SHOW. Currently, he is writing a book about ghetto life in America, and is making a film on dissent for National Educational Television.

He has written for many magazines, including RAMPARTS and STUDIES ON THE LEFT, of which he was a founding editor.

A friend and research associate of the late C. Wright Mills, his essay, "The Last Six Months of C. Wright Mills," appeared in RAMPARTS.

Plans Laid For New Library

A new six story, multi-million dollar SSC library, is scheduled to be ready for occupancy in 1970 according to Gordon P. Martin, college librarian. This library will be located next to the present Engineering Building, which will lose one of its wings in order to accommodate the new structure.

According to the new library's plans, upon entering the library, one may either go directly into a reserve book room and reading area, or into the library proper. To enter the main portion of the library, one walks through a turnstile into a large, spacious lobby. From this lobby one can see the circulation department, inter-library loan, card catalog, etc. If one wishes to go to the Science and Technology reading room, he will go down a flight of stairs to the first floor.

An escalator takes patron to the third floor which will house the Education and Psychology reading room. The fourth floor will house Social Science, and the fifth floor will be devoted to Humanities and Fine Arts.

The penthouse, or sixth floor, will be for technical services, such as records, and processing of books. It will also house the library administration and will contain a staff lounge and rooftop patios and gardens.

Each reading room is designed alike. They all will contain large tables and chairs as well as individual study carrels and group study rooms. The reference desk will be located

Physical dexterity requiring technical brilliance is displayed by members of the Theatre Flamenco as they perform Jota Navarra, a part of the program which they will present here Wednesday.

Fantasticks Headline Music Circus

Sacramento Music Circus '67 stars James Shigeta, Carla Alberghetti, and Ron Husmann will recreate a fantasy world of mock romance replete with love and enchantment when they open next Monday (June 26) in THE FANTASTICKS, the third summer musical being offered by producers Russell Lewis and Howard Young in the multi-colored tent at 15th and H. The colorful musical will run for seven days, June 26 through July 2, with curtain time at 8:30 P.M.

Shigeta will be seen as The Narrator and vagabonds who fashions the fortunes of The Girl, played by Miss Alberghetti, and The Boy, played by Husmann. Also in the stellar cast are Sacramento audience favorite Oliver Cliff and resident actor Charles Schulte.

Based on French romantic playwright Edmond Rostand's LES ROMANTIQUES, a near forgotten harlequinade, the show is another retelling of the ancient Pierrot and Columbine story of The Boy, and The Girl, who fall in love, then spoil their love, then come back to a new appreciation of each other for final happiness.

Many of the melodious songs in the show have long since become famous, among them: Try to Remember, Soon It's Gonna Rain, They Were You, and It Depends on What You Pay.

Gently sloping ramps, the coolness of reflecting ponds, and spaciousness will dominate the exterior of SSC's new library, as indicated in this representation. The architectural firms of Hall and Goodhue and Stone, Marraccini, and Patterson designed the building, which will be constructed within the next few years.

near the door before one reaches the main study area to keep distracting movement and noise to a minimum. One word which seems to describe these reading rooms is "airy."

Since a library is primarily a place to study, every effort is being made to design the library to afford maximum concentration. Carpeted floors, and windowless reading rooms are two of these means. Each room will be well lit and the tables and stacks spread out to give a feeling of privacy to the student.

Among the new services the library someday hopes to provide is a printed book catalog which could be found in several places in the library and which could be sent to each professor.

Martin said that in approximately five years after the completion of the new library, the second half, equally as large, will be started.

Post Session Students To Pay Parking Fees

Parking fees for those attending post-session summer school will be imposed for the first time this summer, according to Stanley Pretzer, SSC business manager. The parking fees for the four week post session will be $3.00. In the past, students attending post session were not required to pay any parking fee. Year-round employees, such as the president, will pay $8.00 for the entire summer.

Scholarship Legislation Advances

A bill which would require that any higher education tuition revenues which the state might collect would have to be spent on scholarships and grants, has received the approval of the Assembly Education Committee.

Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee of Monterey county, author of the measure, said it could put an estimated $75 million into California's scholarship and grant program annually. The program now receives $5 million each year.

The bill is an expression of legislative direction to the State Colleges' Trustees to use tuition proceeds for student aid, if the legislature approves state college tuition. The funds would be disbursed on a dual basis of scholarship and need.

Film Tonight

The motion picture, "Sandra," will be presented this evening at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater. The showing is sponsored by the SSC Cultural Programs Committee. Admission is free.
