

Construction activity on the CSUS South 40 continues at a brisk pace. The basic framework for the new library, set to open about a year from now, is virtually complete.

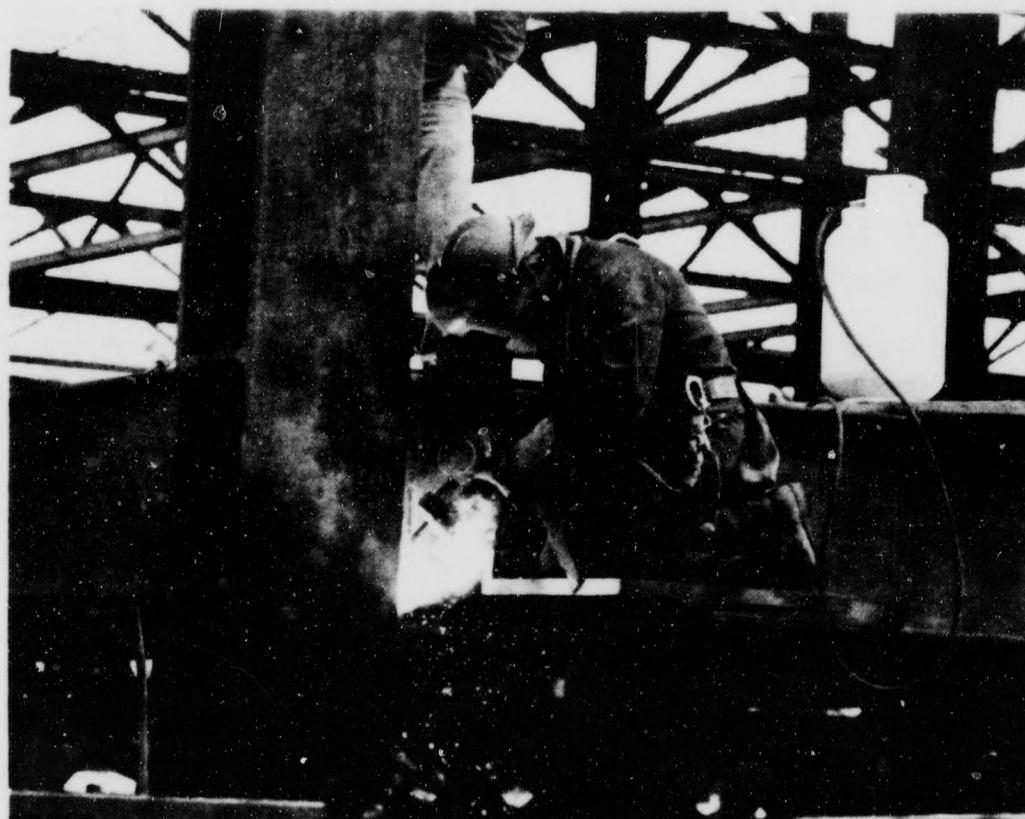

Just to the east of the new library, the ground work and foundation laying is underway for the new Student Union Building.

By the time classes start this fall the library will probably have its exterior walls in place as ever so slowly the heart of the campus moves southward.

Photo essay by Linda Birner

NEW LIBRARY

CONTINUES UPWARD

